Our way is different! How? We have found that if scripture is learned by rhythmic tunes, rather than with familiar melodies, recalling scripture verse comes naturally. The way our melodies are composed by meter, the verse is sung exactly in the way that it would be spoken. We prefer this method over other memory learning methods because once we learn the tune, we are able to speak it in the same manner in which we learned to sing it. You'll be able to speak the verse aloud without the melody, while the tune is playing in your conscience. This method of learning scripture is great for the young and old alike. Best of all you'll remember it and be able to share the verse with others. When words are combined with musical tones in rhythm, the mind records it permanently.
